WE NOMINATE

Jeremiah Stanton Finch, the fifth able educator to serve as Princeton University's Dean of the College, whose voluntary retirement from the post—"in order to devote full time to teaching and research in the Department of English"—made news this week. On July 1st the 50-year old Finch, a full-time and enthusiastic Princetonian for the past quarter-century, will yield his dean's portfolio to John Merrill Knapp (Yale 1936) and will devote the summer months to preparing for a special one-year assignment as a member of the team being assembled by Dr. James R. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard, to carry forward a searching study of the education of American school teachers.

During the academic year 1961-62, Finch, on leave from Princeton and representing the independent liberal arts universities on Dr. Conant's staff, will be observing and evaluating the education of teachers from kindergarten through grade 12. This study, coming on the heels of the two earlier "Conant Reports", "The American High School Today" and "Education in the Junior High School Years", will be sustained by a $300,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York and will be concerned with such controversial topics as the methods of preparing public school teachers for their careers and the criteria of employment established by local, regional and state authorities.

It was in the fall of 1928 that Finch, now the father of a Cornell freshman and a Northfield School junior first saw Princeton from the open door of a baggage-car on the "P.J.&B." spur line. As a sophomore member of Cornell's football managerial staff he was riding one of the bags of equipment he was to sleep with that night, on the eve of the Cornell-Princeton football game, just outside the Palmer Stadium gates. Eight years later, after he graduated from Cornell with the Class of 1931 and had earned his advanced degrees in English, he joined Princeton's Department of English.

Finch, a tough-minded administrator, whose scholarly interests include Charles Lamb and English literature of the 17th century, is interested in all facets of education. Currently serving as chairman of the Advisory Council for Cornell's College of Arts and Sciences, he has been a member of the Borough's Board of Education since 1952 and is now its vice-president. Finch, a member of the special committee of the College Entrance Examination Board that last year recommended the establishment of a "writing sample" for all college applicants, is also associated with the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle Atlantic States Association of School and Colleges and is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Day Schools.

As Dean of the College, succeeding Francis R. B Godolphin in the spring of 1955 following eight years as Assistant Dean, Finch has re-shaped the position and has played a conspicuous role in the development of Princeton's undergraduate program of study. Where in years gone by, even during the tenure of the venerated Christian Gauss, the Dean of the College was largely concerned with student life outside of the classroom, Finch has been wrapped up in "the central business of a university, teaching and learning," including programs in engineering science, the innovation of reading periods, and advanced placement and early concentration for men of high promise.

For his capacity for grappling with, and successfully, what he likes to call "new challenges"; for his contributions to this community as a ranking officer of the University and as a far-seeing participant in public affairs; for meriting the student accolade, "a good dean"; he is Town Topics' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

TALE OF AN ARROW

Or, "Where's the Olive?" An alert Princeton citizen (so far unidentified) with a sharp ear for history and a keen eye for accurate detail listened to President John F. Kennedy address Congress on the subject of the American eagle, and then went to the Princeton Post Office to see for himself.

President Kennedy had pointed out that the eagle holds a sheaf of arrows in one set of talons and an olive branch in the other. The Princeton citizen, however, found that things are quite different with the Post Office eagle. This proud and emblematic bird holds a sheaf of arrows in both claws, and no olive branch at all.

Postal officials in Trenton and Newark are said to be most concerned because they are afraid that the same mistake may have been made in scores of Post Office buildings constructed, as Princeton's was, in the mid-1930's.

The Princeton Post Office is inclined to be more philosophical about the matter: "Never mind the eagle," said one employee, "just get us a new Post Office."

THE MAN WITH THE PLOW

He Was the Hero. It hardly seemed possible that another snowstorm could be in the wind — so to speak—but such was indeed the case. Between the fall of the first flake on Friday afternoon and the fall of the last one about 3:40 Saturday afternoon, some 12 inches of soggy, heavy-footed snow were dumped on Princeton and as much as 19 inches on some surrounding communities.

Steady 25 - mile - an - hour winds blew the snow into such drifts and deeps that a man with a yardstick could get almost any measure he wanted. Now and then, gusts blew as high as 40 miles an hour, whipping the snow across newly-shovelled walks and driveways.

At first, it was a light and feather fall, but gradually it began to retain moisture. The weight of the moisture packed it down and kept it from being as deep as it might otherwise have been. David Ludlum, Princeton's weather expert, estimates that it would have been 36 inches deep if it had stayed light and downy.

The fall brought Princeton's total for the winter to 47 inches, a total exceeded in this area only by the snows of 1898-99. It was, for the benefit of semanticists, a "warm blizzard," according to Mr. Ludlum. To be a real blizzard, a snowstorm must be accompanied by gala-force winds (35 m.p.h.) and low temperatures. The thermometer here, of course, rose to a three-week high, actually going to a point above freezing.

Cold temperatures preceeded the Friday-Saturday storm. Mr. Ludlum recorded minus 10 near Lake Carnegie about two weeks ago, and minus four and five several mornings on the thermometer outside his house on Riverside Drive.

To find a similar combination of heavy snowfall and persistent cold weather historians must go back to the winter of 1967-68, in New York City Mr. Ludlum says.

Who Counts the Cost? The men with the plows were the men of the hour in Princeton. In the Borough, it cost about $5,000 to clear away the snow, according to engineer Arthur Brokew, and in the Township, the cost was $4,500. The fact that the snow had to be removed over a weekend added to the labor costs because of overtime.

The Borough paid out some $3,000 in overtime labor and the Township about $1,500. It cost the Township $3,000 to rent equipment and the Borough $2,000.

In both municipal ties, there was hasty juggling of the 1961 budgets before they were introduced Monday night to provide for the cost of snow removal. The three storms of December 12, January 19 and February 4 have cost the Township $11,000. The December storm of course, came out of last year's budget.

Municipal plows worked, as before, on a steady basis and some private plows were almost as busy. One resident of the Province Line Road area plowed out all his neighbors' driveways, one after the other, free of charge, just as a neighborly gesture. Maintenance men at Princeton Hospital, most of whom had come on routine duty at 8 a.m. Friday, plowed around the clock until Saturday night, keeping the roads, driveweys, sidewalks and parking lots of the Hospital free of snow and ready for whatever emergencies might arise.

Nurses, volunteers and aides worked double shifts at the Hospital, and many aides who were off duty came in to work. (Incidentally, the Hospital's auditors, down from New York, were snowed in without food at a motel, and were rescued by a maintence crew that brought them in to the Hospital for a bowl of hot soup.)

Expectant mothers came in from Cranbury, Trenton and Griggstown to the Hospital and one prudent mother appeared at 9 a.m. on Saturday because she didn't like the looks of the weather. Her baby was born at noon on Sunday.

Mary Fitzgerald, 26, 38 Chestnut Street, was taken to the Hospital Saturday noon with a fractured ankle which she incurred as the result of a fall in the snow. Borough Patrolman Theodore Lewis, Green Street, was taken by ambulance to the Hospital after a severe fall in the snow at the Princeton Shopping Center.

The Hospital has had many patients in the dispensary with minor fractures of wrist, hand or ankle since cold weather and snow began to be a Princeton way of life, but in this last storm, there were no severe accidents and no heart attacks.

Fire Quelled. At the height of the storm, early Saturday morning, fire from a defective kerosene burner caused minor damage in Jimmy's Barber Shop, 141 John Street. The blaze burned a hole in the floor, but was quickly extinguished by firemen. A general alarm was turned in because of the high wind and the density of the neighborhood. Mrs. Esther Brown, who lives in an apartment in the rear of the one-story frame building, was led to safety after the stove flared into flames.

Life-As-Usual. Two weddings, scheduled for Saturday, took place as planned. Constance Hull of Kingston and Theodore B. Turner, III of Iowa, were married in the Unitarian Church, and Sharon Clark and Frederick Smith of Lawrenceville were married in the Lawrence Road Presbyterian Church.

"King Lear" played McCarter Theatre on Friday night, but was cancelled on Saturday. The snowed-in cast spent all day Saturday rehearsing "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which a member of the production staff says "is now the best-rehearsed production in the company's history."

The University of Pennsylvania basketball team never got beyond Hightstown on its way to Princeton, but a dance band from Baltimore arrived in time to play for the 10th annual dance of the May Margaret Fine Endowment Fund held at Miss Fine's. Over 350 of the 475 dancers expected at the event appeared Saturday night, some of them in ski boots.

"Ill Wind" Note: Because the storm snowed out most of the candidates taking the College Entrance Examination Board scholastic aptitude tests, Educational Testing Service wired every secondary school in the storm area to say that the tests would be given on March 18. It was the largest single wire order in the history of Princeton's Western Union office: 4,207 telegrams.

MORE ARE NOMINATED

For Hospital Trustees. Six additional candidates have been nominated for election to the Board of Trustees of Princeton Hospital. There are now 11 candidates seeking the five available posts. Elections will be held at the annual meeting of the Hospital corporation at 8 p.m. on February 27.

(For a letter on last week's report on the campaign being waged by the "Friends of Princeton Hospital," see Mailbox, page 13.)

The newly-announced candidates are three incumbents, George R. Griffing, 234 Prospect Avenue; Bernard Kilgore, Pretty Brook Road; and Mrs. William L. Wilson, 225 Jefferson Road. Lee H. Bristol, Jr., 210 Mercer St.; Leslie L. Vivian, Jr., 52 Gulick Road and Mrs. John G. Whitwell, 9 Pardoe Road, have also been nominated.

Mr. Bristol is public relations director of Bristol, Myers Company and a well-known musicologist. Mr. Vivien is an administrative officer at Princeton University.

Mrs. Widwell is a hospital volunteer with over 10 years and more than 1,000 hours of service.

Mr. Griffing is president of the Matthews Construction Company. Mr. Kilgore is publisher of the Wall Street Journal and the Princeton Packet and Mrs. Wilson, a housewife, is cheirman of volunteers at Princeton Hospital. She also has over ten years and more than 1,000 hours of service.

The two incumbents who are not seeking reelection are Mrs. Marshal M.H. Dana of Kingston and Dr. Wilbur H. York, Battle Road.

ROUND-UP

When the temperature soared to the mid-thirties Sunday afternoon, it marked the end of the longest cold spell in Trenton Weather Bureau history. . . from January 19 to February 4—a total of 17 days—no reading above freezing was recorded. . .during that time, the average maximum was 20, the average minimum was two and the low was four below zero, recorded Thursday, February 2.

Jewelry worth more than $800 was stolen last week from the 146 Nassau Street apartment of Miss Mary R. Perpetua and Miss Christine Lear . . .Police Chief Raymond Mondone reports that the second floor apartment was entered some time between 7:50 a.m. and 3 p.m. on February 1, with a knife or other sharp, thin object used to slip the lock. . . wrist watches, rings and other jewelry were taken, with Miss Perpetua reporting a loss amounting to $150 and Miss Lear one of $660.

A pair of bank holidays are on the way—Monday, in observance of Lincoln's Birthday, and Washington's, Wednesday, February 22. . . mail deliveries will be made Monday but not on the 22d.

Neither political party in New Jersey has made much progress in resolving impending primary battles for the governorship. . .the Democrats still hope for harmony in the form of an administration-backed candidate, but Hoboken Mayor John J. Grogan has indicated he has no intention of withdrawing. . .last weekend's meeting of party leaders at Marven was virtually snowed out, but another set for this week was reportedly leaning toward Trenton attorney (and former judge) Richard J. Hughes as a compromise candidate.

Republicans, meanwhile, were finding Walter H. Jones, State Senator from Bergen County, making steady headway in his bid for nomination . . .indications are that a four-way ballot battle will develop among Sen. Jones, Sen. Wayne Dumont of Warren, Sen. Charles W. Sandman of Cape May and former Secretary of Labor James Mitchell.

Classified Comment in this issue: a "Valentine" sent by three appreciative customers to Jimmy's Service Station, Route 206, Rocky Hill, for outstanding service rendered during last week's snowstorm. . . a man seeking to sell "A 1951 Hillman station wagon faithful to me but beneath my wife" . . .a give-away of a limited number of "dog-like puppies."

An acquaintance sent us an item he read in Partners, by Frances Rodman, which tells of an unusual custom: "In the Hindu method of collecting debts the creditor sits at the debtor's door, holding in his hand poison or a dagger. If the debtor passed without paying, the creditor might kill himself, and under their law the crime would be on the debtor's head. The Chinese solve the problem with a little more dispatch. The creditor and his whole family move in on the debtor, who pays rather than put up with the self-invited guests." Quite an idea, eh?

He said that good credit and good character always go hand in hand, and he remembered a friend who was very successful having said that credit was actually more valuable than cold cash, because you could run out of cash but good credit never ran out on you, so long as you kept it good. We're always glad to bring you these little items and stories and do hope we'll have the privilege of serving you soon.

TAXES GOING HIGHER

In Borough, Township. Borough residents learned Monday night that their taxes will go up 25 points—from $8.13 per $100 of assessed valuation in 1960 to $8.38. Last year's increase was 28 points over 1959.

This figure incorporates the $1.61 county assessment, the $2.92 school levy and $1.85 for local purposes.

In dollar terms, the budget is up $20,000 from last year; $799,146 as opposed to the 1960 figure of $779,221. Included in this amount is a four percent salary increase for Borough personnel; a renewed allocation for a planning board consultant; $8,000 for a sewer study, $11,000 for a front-end loader which is expected to ease the removal of future snows, and $7,500 for a heavier truck.

There will be a public hearing on the budget on March 6 at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

The story was much the same in the Township where Committee introduced on Monday night a budget calling for a tax increase of 17 points. The new rate will be $2.47 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The Township assesses at 100 percent and the Borough at one-third. If the Borough also assessed at 100 percent, the comparable rates would be $2.13 for the Borough and $2.47 for the Township. The Township school rate accounts for $1.34 and the county for 56 plus cents.

In the Township, there is an increase of $166,004 over 1960—or 20 percent. The 1961 dollar figure is $972,225.

Of this amount, $15,208 represents higher payments to the Borough for sewer, incinerator, fire and $2,500 payment to the Borough to purchase equity in the new joint library. There is a $20,000 increase in the Township's share in capital improvements - reflecting new sidewalks, and so on — and $7,000 increase in interest on notes.

Both municipalities appropriated money to pave Walnut Lane, the street that runs east of Princeton High School. Each has allocated $16,500 for the project.

The Township has also earmarked $54,300 for the salaries of a new deputy clerk, an assistant to the building inspector, two new policemen, additional snow-removal labor, police promotions, a new road man overtime and salary increases.

The Township, like the Borough provided for additional equipment: a new tractor loader between six and seven tons, priced at $14,000. This vehicle will load trucks in the summer and cart away snow in the winter. An $11,000 street-sweeper has also been ordered.

There will be a public hearing on the new budget on Monday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

Township Committee on Monday night passed the ordinance repealing the municipality's personal property tax. No one appeared at the public hearing to comment on the new ordinance and it was passed unanimously. Township officials had estimated it would cost one-third of the amount realized just to collect the tax, not including the time involved in extra bookkeeping.

ELECTIONS TUESDAY

For School Boards. Voters in the area will cast ballots Tuesday in school elections. For times and polling places see box, Page 3.

In addition to voting for members of the School Board, Borough and Township voters will pass on the budgets for the two school districts: $1,581,266, a five percent increase, in the Borough and $1,333,283 a four percent increase, in the Township.

Township residents will also vote on the $1,150,000 bond issue for construction of Community Park School. The new school, if approved, will increase Township taxes about seven points in 1963, the first full year of payment of both principal and interest. For a complete list of candidates in Princeton, West Windsor and Lawrence, see pages 15 and 16.

HEARING HELD

On Community Park School. Approximately 35 Township residents attended the public hearing on the new Community Park School Thursday night. They heard the School Board explain plans for the new school and show how the school will be integrated into the recreation facilities of the future Community Gardens.

The school was described by Leonard Hymerling, Board member, as "a functional, fire-resistant, low - maintenance school which can be converted to many uses and has no 'dead' space."

F.H. Tenney, 168 Hickory Court, asked how much more it was going to cost to build a school which will have community recreation facilities included in it. Mr. Hymerling said that only the shower and locker rooms represented an additional expenditure. He said this amounted to about $15,000.

Harold Burkert, 26 Herrontown Circle, asked whether Community Gardens Trustees had attached any strings to deeding the land to the School Board. Richard Pearson of the School Board said that the conveyance of the deed did not involve "strings," but that the Board was obviously interested in meeting some of the interests of the people who held the land, and that actually the trustees of the Gardens were restricted by the terms of the trust to offering the land only for recreation and public purposes.

"If I'm against recreation, but for the new school, how can I vote?" Mr. Burkert asked.

Mrs. Jess Epstein, president of the Board, pointed out that the existence of Community Gardens meant that the school would not have the expense of developing its own playing fields.

YOUTH TO BENEFIT

From Memorial Fund. A fund, to be established in honor of Elizabeth Taylor Byrd, will be used to "encourage Princeton youth in scholarship, leadership, citizenship and Christian fellowship." The money will be given as loans or scholarships, depending on the need.

Mrs. Byrd worked actively with teenagers for 25 years through the YWCA, of which she was a vice-president, and the First Baptist Church. She died on November 28, 1960.

A mail campaign for funds is in progress, and an annual appeal is planned. Information on the fund may be obtained from any officer or sponsor.

Officers of the group are: Mrs. Frederick Burrell, chairman; Mrs. Alphone Briscoe, co-chairman; Mrs. Raymond F. Male, secretary; Mrs. Robert Wright, financial secretary; and Mrs. David Taylor, treasurer.

Other sponsors are Mrs. Sherman Bates, Mrs. John Brawn, Mrs. Floyd Campbell, Dr. Robert Ellis Jr., Mrs. Alexander Hoagland, Mrs. Theodore Kennedy, Mrs. Margaret Miller, Mrs. Moore, Mayor Raymond F. Male, Mrs. Oscar Sussman, James Ward, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waxwood Jr.

WORKSHOPS ANNOUNCED

By Service Council. Four committees of the Council of Community Services will hold simultaneous workshop meetings during and after lunch at the YMCA Monday. Luncheon and the workshops will begin at 12:30 and adjourn at 2. Reservations may be made by calling WA 4-5882 any time before noon Friday.

The Education Committee under Mrs. Arthur Sherwood will discuss the future of the Joint Public Library. The Recreation Committee under Mrs. Frank Vomacka, will discuss questions relating to the Community Gardens park area and other matters relating to community recreation.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frederick W. Stohlman, the Inter-Group Relations Committee will discuss problems of discrimination in Princeton. A guest speaker Gilbert Ware, will take part in this workshop. A committee under Mrs. Richard Schoch will consider the establishment of a volunteer center. The new Women's Club of Princeton is studying the establishment of a cross-index of volunteers and organizations that need them.

Each member organization of the Council is invited to send representatives to this meeting, which is also open to individual members and to interested guests.

TWO YOUTHS FINED

For Stealing Hubcaps. Two 17-year-old youths, Carmen N. Stefanelli of Lawrenceville Road, and John L. Armonia of 54 Harris Road, were each fined $15 in Borough Court and each had his license revoked for one year for tampering with a motor vehicle. They were apprehended last Thursday evening by the police after Joseph Matuszewski of Pleasant Valley Road, Harbourton, observed them stealing two chrome hubcaps from his car parked near Monument driveway.

Another 17-year-old driver had his license revoked for two months for careless driving. David E. Faley of Kingston-Princeton was also fined $15 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. for losing control of his car on Hamilton Avenue on January 26 and striking a parked car. Foley pleaded not guilty.

In other action, Mrs. Rose Borasko of Borasko Place, Princeton Junction was fined $12 for a "stop sign" violation. A careless driving charge against Thomas Hill, Jr., 22, of 143 Witherspoon Street was dismissed.

LUNCHEON PLANNED

By Woman's Club. Reservations for the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Club of Princeton, to be held Thursday, February 16, will be accepted until Saturday. Those interested in attending should communicate with Mrs. William L. Liggett, 231 State Road the hospitality chairman.

The meeting will begin at 12:30 at the Nassau Inn. Hostesses will be the members of the board of directors: Mrs. Serge Agadjanian, Mr. Paul A. Ashton, Mrs. John M. Brown, Mrs. Richard D. Chellener, Mrs. Lester W. Coate,

Lost: One Valentine

I had a lovely
Valentine,
And I had hoped
That she'd be mine.
But she went out
To shovel snow
One morning
(It was two below).
And I've not seen her
Since that day.
Suppose I'll find her,
Come next May?

—BROKE N. HART

The smart money was betting on April, but not much before that. And think of all the water there'll be around when this over-supply of white stuff starts to disintegrate.

A milding trend is on the way, with Thursday and Friday temperatures scheduled to touch 40. Possibility of some rain late Friday; clearing and cold again for the weekend.

News Of The THEATRES

"CRACK YOUR CHEEKS!"

"Lear" Opens Season. The sizeable first-night audience that attended the initial production of the new spring Shakespeare series in McCarter Theatre Friday night emerged from the theatre into a storm that made the "King Lear" tempest seem like a fairy-tale. It was indeed a fitting night to offer Shakespeare's titanic tragedy of malevolent man and chaotic nature.

For generations, there has been a literary tradition that "Lear" is an impossible play to stage. The Association of Producing Artists has mounted a really creditable production of this difficult work, pacing its ponderous flow to provide constant movement (sometimes almost too much verbal speed, in some of those packed, condensed passages); avoiding on the whole the pitfall of melodrama (the snickers that came from the audience in the last scene provided more of a commentary on undergraduate callowness than on the play); and offering in the role of Lear an actor who is an awesome stage presence with a splendid voice for Lear's magnificent lines.

Ellis Rabb's Lear is lean, thunder-voiced, imperious and in the monarch's own words, "every inch a king." Far from crawling toward death, he has more vitality than anyone around him and when he says, "I'll not weep," he speaks not with the tremble of an old man denying unkingly tears but with the steel voice of command. Because of these qualities, the Rabb Lear does not always touch the heart, although the final scenes with Cordelia are moving.

Richard Easton as the mock-mad Edgar, Jacqueline Brookes as Goneril and Eulalie Noble as Regan are particularly noteworthy. Michael Ebert does not bring enough malevolence to the Iago-like role of Edmund and Tucker Ashworth does not have enough ironic bite for The Fool.

Costumes Imaginative. For this timeless tragey,. Ann Roth has designed imaginative costumes that are removed from time or place. Lear and the women wear long, full robes.

Over their floor-length garments the women wear hip-length jerkins or short, full capes. Their heads are completely bound by draperies. The men wear light grey "long johns" with brilliantly patterned ponchos or straight tunics. The men's helmets are reminiscent of those worn by Sumerian warriors. Or Martians.

All five of McCarter's Shakespearean productions this spring will be presented from Hugh Hardy's highly-effective "Festival Stage," a two-level structure 21 feet high which projects 15 feet into the orchestra and provides a fluid stage with such features as small auxiliary curtains that can be used for swift scene transitions, spiral staircases for access to the top level and other stairs for exits into the orchestra pit.

Blueprints, drawings and samples of angle-irons and uprights for this ingenious structure, which Mr. Hardy calls "a disciplined geometry of platforms and uprights" are on display in the McCarter Lobby.

"Lear" will have its final performance this Friday at 8 p.m.

INTIME NAMES CAST

For Next Production. Members of the cast of "Woyzeck," next production of Theatre Intime, were announced this week by Peter Nichols, the play's producer. The play is scheduled to run February 23 through March 4 at Murray Theatre. Josef Fitchett will direct.

Three Princeton residents are included in the cast. They are Carrie Brown, a graduate of Allegheny College who has played in television and summer stock; Mirlam Kiss, active in dramatic work at Douglass College, and Julia Fremon, Princeton High School student who has been seen in the Community Players.

Others in the cast will be Eric Rothstein, a graduate student at Princeton University, and Montgomery Davis, graduating vice president of Theatre Intime. The part of Woyzeck will be played by Roy Bacon, New York actor who was seen here in the University Players' production last summer of "Underpants."

April Musical Planned

A spring musical will be presented in McCarter Theatre in April under the joint auspices of the theatre, Community Players and Triangle Club, according to an announcement made this week by Milton Lyon, McCarter's producer, who will act as director of the musical.

The show will be either "Once Upon a Mattress," "South Pacific," "The King and I" or "Guys and Dolls," Mr. Lyon says.

Anyone who is interested in trying out for a signing or acting role should call McCarter Theatre for an appointment. Auditions will be held on Sunday, February 19, starting at 7 p.m. Those who are interested in working on scenery, costumes and other details of production will meet at 7:30 on the same Sunday.

AUDIENCE INVITED

To Join Children's Offering. Audience participation will be a feature of the second Children's Entertainment Series offering to be given on Tuesday February 21, in McCarter Theatre at 3:30 p.m.

The Merry-Go-Rounders, an adult professional company, will present three story-ballets designed for children from the first through eighth grades. In "Ballet Charades" spectators will have a chance to identify familiar characters and poems in a guessing game.

"Cakewalk" is a dance contest or "challenge" with the audience serving as judge. The third ballet, "Forest Adventure," is an amusing story of the escapade of an escaped circus lion by a young boy and some friendly wild animals.

The Merry-Go-Rounders were organized eight years ago under the general direction of Doris Humphreys. In the summer of 1959, they were invited to give 30 performances in the New York City parks for city children. Individual tickets for the Princeton performance are 60c, $1 and $1.50. They may be obtained by mail from Mrs. R. H. Parmenter, 175 Hamilton Avenue, or purchased at the box office on the afternoon of the performance.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Morrince - Go - Round (February 8-14). Regular readers of this department — both of them — will recall that we have been waging a quiet battle for some time against Hollywood's misuse of its new freedom to deal with "adult" themes. Moderation has been our watchword, and will continue to be. We think it's great that Hollywood has been able to produce films like "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and that distributors are free to import the good foreign films that come right out and admit there's no truth to the stork legend.

But the particular difficulty on the West Coast is that a good many producers seems to confuse "adult" with anything concerning sex; if adultery was a mature subject in the most leering, bumbling comedy, "The Marriage-Go-Round" is a case in point.

The plot concerns a university couple who are happily married until a buxom Scandinavian beauty arrives with the intention of producing a perfect child, to be fathered by the university husband. The performances are adequate, but the story is handled with all the subtlety and taste of a group of high school students boasting of apocryphal amatory successes.

James Mason, Susan Hayward and Julie Newmar are the principal perpetrators. It is in CinemaScope and color.

The Misfits (February 15-21) is worth seeing despite a sloppy, uninspired screenplay that will add no laurels to Arthur Miller's wreath. The stars, Clark Gable (in his final role), Marilyn Monroe and Montgomery Clift, perform with power and incisiveness. Miss Monroe is particularly good in a role tailored especially for her.

Set in and around Las Vegas, the story concerns a wistful young divorcee and her entanglements with an aging cowhand. Mr. Miller overlooks no opportunity to let us know that this apparently Simple Story is really invested with Cosmic Significance. The intrusive symbolic structure seems to have been tacked on by a palsied paperhanger, and its resolution is neither pat nor profound nor original. Peter De Vries had a word for it: Symbol Simon.

THE GARDEN

Dreams (February 7-11), produced in 1955, is vintage Ingmar Bergman. It is a well-made and absorbing film, but it has neither the airy originality of Bergman's earlier "A Lesson in Love," which appeared at the Garden a couple of weeks ago, nor the distinction of his later, major work. Harriet Andersson, Eva Dahlbeck and Gunnar Bjornstrand are starred. The plot, treated in highly realistic fashion, exposes the inner lives of two women: a career-minded model-agency owner who attempts to renew an affair with a man who is now married, and a young model who becomes involved with an aging lawyer. Recommended.

Figaro, the Barber of Seville (February 13), by Rossini, appeared at the Garden December 12 as the last in the fall Grand Opera Festival Series. The snow that night was a little too much even for confirmed opera buffs; hence this re-running. Tito Gobbi is starred, and Milton Cross comments on the action. The film is in color.

Oscar Wilde (February 14-18)—not to be confused with "The Green Carnation" (nee "The Trial of Oscar Wilde")—covers the playwright's involvement with the son of the Marquis of Queensbury, the morals trial where Wilde's blinding wit was insufficient to save his career, and his subsequent destruction.

The cast features Phyllis Calvert, John Neville, Sir Ralph Richardson and Robert Morley as Wilde. Jo Eisinger wrote the screenplay, and Gregory Ratoff directed with intelligence and taste. The cast is fine, with Morley and Richardson particularly impressive. Unless they've completed the introductory course in Tennessee Williams, youngsters will be better off watching a restful television program. Recommended.

NEW GALLERY

At Schwartz Furniture, The Tomlinson Room is not New Brunswick's newest restaurant. It is the new gallery set aside by the Schwartz Furniture Company (74 Carroll Place) for the display of Tomlinson's two lines, "Sophisticate" and "Pavane." Here, in a quiet room above the main showroom, you may see how these formal and graceful pieces look in a setting that's as much like a room as a busy furniture store can achieve.

"Sophisticate" is showing off its new bed headboard these days. It's designed with two doors that open down to provide a prop for your pillow when you're reading in bed. In the morning, snap them shut and nobody will know they are there. The headboard curves, with antiqued brass rods providing an open look on each side of the three-panelled board.

Modular units are available in this line now. There's a corner cupboard with curving, recessed doors, a low four-drawer chest and a glass doored cupboard with the outlines of wooden medallions against the glass. A bookcase unit has two shallow drawers for books you want to keep away from the kiddies.

"Pavane" has an oblong table, assertive enough for a man's study, with drawers in either end. There's a small triangular table with a top of Portugese marble cut to show the seashells embedded in the marl.

Outside the Tomlinson gallery in one of the main showrooms, Schwartz has the new line, "La Galerie" by Thomasville. These are Provincial pieces designed to go together, although not necessarily to match precisely. For example, you might choose for your dining room a buffet with octagonal molding outlining the double doors and framing the three drawers.

The breaktront might be the design that features oval-topped frames around the tambour panels of each door. The dining table might be the oval model with straight legs or curving pedestal legs.

The woods are chestnut and native pecan with Italian burl for decoration. Hardware blends with the antiqued finish of the woods. There are upholstered pieces to harmonize with the basic wooden ones.

Schwartz points out that the idea behind "La Galerie" is that buyers may purchase these pieces to satisfy their own tastes without regard for what a manufacturer thinks will "go" with this or that table. A complete home assembled from "La Galerie" could, therefore, be completely different from another home furnished with the same line.

BIRTHDAY SUIT?

That's What We Said. The Birthday Suit at Edith's, on Chambers Street, comes from those wild-eyed designers at Warners. It's an all-in-one made of Lycra and it fits closer than a freckle.

Cut like a minimum bathing suit, it has a low V neck and high cut legs. The front is reinforced and the back is preshaped. The brassiere top is nylon mesh and nylon marquisette. It's completely machine washable.

Lycra is a kind of synthetic rubbery fabric from Dupont, and this suit is all Lycra, which means that it will stretch to fit you, but no more and will absorb perspiration and not be uncomfortable in warm weather. The suit is on display now at Edith's and will be in stock in March. Price is $18.50.

Heavier women will be interested in an all-Lycra zipper girdle and women with no weight at all will be interested in an all-Lycra long legged panty girdle called Little Godiva which doesn't weigh any more than a soap-flake. It's $10 beige or white.

Muu-Muu

The muu-muu is a kind of Hawaiian Mother Hubbard, designed to be worn over bare cupboards. It has been adapted for nonHawaiian ladies by some lingerie manufacturers and you may examine and buy at Edith's on Chambers Street.

We found one, just to give you an idea, in dacron and cotton print, fresh and spring-like, with lace edging at the elbow sleeves and a violet satin tie at the neckline. Very demure.

A muu-muu is a long, full gown which hangs straight from the neckline in voluminous gathers. We described one recently to an inquiring male and his first question was, "Who looks good in these?" Better go take a look in Edith's mirror; maybe you do!

Contessa di Roma presents a strapless all-in-one with some masterful engineering that is said to eliminate "down pull." Olga has something called a French Tease made of power net and cut in girdle or panty girdle style with front and back dip.

Warner's Merry Widow shows that Lycra can look almost like silk. This comes in bright red, black or white with front zipper.

To wear under knit dresses, Edith's suggests a zip slip of Tafreda, made of half dacron, half nylon fabric. Juniors will want an all dacron crepe half slip in blue or pink pin stripes,

SOPHISTICATE by TOMLINSON
...SPEAKS FOR ITSELF!

One look . . . and you'll know why this dramatic new collection has created such excitement in all the leading magazines. It's modern, yes . . . modern with a wonderful warmth —yet it accessorizes magnificently in almost any mood . . . and even one striking piece can give you a start on the home you've been dreaming about. For example, this magnificent breakfront . . . a daring blend of three rare woods, exquisitely crafted parquet effects, superb accents of gold washed hardware. See our presentation of Sophisticate by Tomlinson, today. Almost eighty pieces for today's living.

MUSIC In Princeton

PROGRAMMING HIT

Blackwood Symphony Decried. Surely there is no orchestra in the United States today which plays with more precision and clarity than the Cleveland Orchestra under the direction of George Szell.

On Monday night, at McCarter Theatre, their astonishing control of dynamics, balance, phrasing and articulation was once again amply demonstrated. For example the opening "L' Italiana in Algeri" overture of Rossini, though a slight enough piece of music, was transformed into a marvel of orchestral playing.

Mr. Szell's taste in contemporary music, however, continues to baffle this reviewer. While Easley Blackwood's "Symphony No. 2" was not as totally inept a composition as the Benjamine Lees symphony Szell brought to Princeton last year, it certainly is as crude, contrived, pretentious and empty a work as one could ever hope to hear. After hearing Mr. Blackwood's first symphony this reviewer was prepared for the worst; he was not, however, prepared for anything quite so superficial in both conception and execution.

It is not simply that Mr. Blackwood's music is completely derivative—there are many derivative pieces that are very musical and very rewarding. It is simply that the work pretends to a large-scale, imposing composition of profound significance, where it is, in fact, totally devoid of any musical ideas and substance whatsoever.

It is, in short, fraudulent from beginning to end, from its ponderous opening to its vulgar conclusion. It is a sad thing that from among contemporary American orchestral compositions, Mr. Szell does not choose to perform some of the seldom-played masterpieces which he and his orchestra could execute so superbly if they wished—Elliott Carter's "Variations for Orchestra," for example.

The concluding "Symphony

PIANIST TO PERFORM: Paul Jacobs, who has specialized in the performance of contemporary works, will give a recital Monday in McCosh 10.

No. 4" of Gustav Mahler is one of the most readily accessible (and one of the best) works of a great composer, a work of such transcendental beauty that it defies verbal description. Mr. Szell and Saramae Endich, the soprano soloist in the last movement, performed it lovingly and gloriously; the long silence which followed the symphony's conclusion indicated the profound impression made upon the audience even more than the volumes of applause which followed. For such nectar as this, one would gladly sit through a dozen Blackwood symphonies.

PIANIST WILL PLAY

Offers Contemporary Music. Paul Jacobs, pianist, will give a concert of contemporary piano music Monday at 8:30 p.m. in McCosh 10 under the auspices of the Fromm Music Foundation. The recital is open to the public without charge.

A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music in 1951, Mr. Jacobs spent eight years in Europe, playing in Germany, Italy, Austria and France before returning to this country in 1959. He has been on the faculty at Tanglewood for two summers and he appeared last summer at the Seminar in Advanced Music Studies sponsored by Princeton University.

For his recital here, he has chosen the following program: Sonatina seconda by Busoni; Zwei Klavierstuecke Opus 33 a and b and Funf Klavierstuecke Opus 23 by Schoenberg; Four Etudes by Debussy; Klavierstuecke V and XI by Stockhausen; Variationen Opus 27 by Webern; and Stravinsky's Piano - Rag - Music, Souvenir d'une arche Bache, Valse pour les Enfants, Tango and Ragtime.

WILL SING SCHUBERT

Amateurs to Meet. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will gather Sunday at 5 at Miss Fine's under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp to sing Schubert's G Major Mass.

The public is invited to participate. Those who wish to attend should call Mrs. MacKenzie Bryan, WA 4-0453 between 2 and 5.

Soloists for Sunday's gathering will be Sophia Beryk, soprano, Robert Holland, tenor and Woodward Waesche, bass. There will be a string orchestra.

sizes in 9, 11 and 3. There are also nylon slips and panties for juniors in 9, 11 and 13.

No junior or senior will be able to resist a bouffant petticoat with a companion camisole top. The petticoat has a cotton undershirt and a top consisting of bands of permanently pleated cotton and nine-inch cotton lace. The camisole has a cotton lace back, lingerie straps and a lace bodice.

Another petticoat is nylon organdy with tiers separated by one-inch bands of satin; another is tiers of white eyelet punctuated with a pink satin bow, and there's a classic petticoat in eyelet which falls full from the waist.

In the gown department, Edith is particularly happy about a long dacron and cotton gown in pink or blue in sizes up to 42. Long gowns are often difficult to find in these sizes, as you know.

Here's a lounging pajama with lime pants and a shirt top made of lime, orange, pink and red squares. Another, somewhat more subdued, has raspberry tricot pants and a pop-over top of white nylon with a raspberry flowerpot for a pocket. This one is $6.

A sleep coat (or hospital gown) is white dacron and cotton, smocked at the yoke below a little round collar. In quite a different vein, there's a black harem gown with fitted bodice outlined with gold and a gathered hemline pulled up in harem fashion.

The duster of the season is an all-nylon, like silk, in a blurry rose, green and blue print (yellows and rust, too) with a wide collared neckline marked at the front by a self rose.

ANNUAL MEETING LISTED

By Visiting Nurse Association. The annual meeting of the Princeton Visiting Nurse Association will be held February 21 at 10 a.m. at its headquarters, 245 Nassau Street.

This year marks the 60th anniversary of the Association. All contributors to the Princeton United Community Fund are invited to attend.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

By Mongomery Fire Company. The following officers have been installed for 1961 by the Montgomery Volunteer Fire Company No. 2:

Robert Saums, president; John Van Zandt, first vice-president, James Arecco, second vice-president, Everett May Jr., secretary, Everett May Sr., corresponding secretary and Edward Terhune, treasurer. Trustees named for this year are R. K. Musselman, Harold Skillman, Kenneth Dorey, Arthur Kirk nad Johnson B. Moore.

COMMUNION SET

By Knights of Columbus. This Sunday, the Knights of Columbus, Princeton Council No. 636, will receive Holy Communion at the 8 a.m. Mass in St. Paul's Church, and will offer their prayers for the intentions of the hierarchy in the state.

Known as the Bishops Spiritual Bouquet, the program will be held throughout the state by the Knights.

BLACK HAWKS WIN

Take Two Events in Rally. The Black Hawk Patrol of Scout Troop 43 of First Presbyterian Church took top place in the patrol rally last Thursday at P.C.D. gymnasium. The Black Hawks came in first in fire building and ladder building.

Second place was a tie between the Black Foxes and the Flaming Arrows both of Troop 56 of Trinity Episcopal Church. The Black Foxes won the knot-tying rally and the Flaming Arrows won the signalling contest.

Blight Hearing Set

A public hearing to determine whether or not the two blocks bounded by Witherspoon, Hulfish, John and Green Streets constitute a blighted area will be held before the Princeton Borough Planning Board on Tuesday, March 21.

All property owners in the area under consideration will receive written notification of the pending hearing from the Borough Clerk, and a map of the area will be available at the Borough Clerk's office prior to the hearing. Those testifying at the hearing will include Edmund Cook for the Housing Authority and F. Dodd McHugh, Borough planning consultant.

The hearing was scheduled by the Planning Board at its meeting Tuesday night, following receipt of a request from Borough Council. It will mark the first step in reopening plans for urban renewal of the area. These plans, originally brought up two years ago, were halted by court action.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET

Will Hear Professor Lacey. Professor Donald B. Lacey, extension specialist in home grounds from Rutgers University, will discuss flowering tree and shrubs at an open meeting of the Dogwood Garden Club of Princeton to be held this Thursday afternoon.

The Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Schultz of 30 Galbreath Drive East. The meeting will start at 1:30.

REGISTRATION SET

for Kindergarten Classes. Registration for next year's kindergarten classes in West Windsor Township will be held Monday, March 6, 13 and 20 at the West Windsor School in Dutch Neck. Forms will be sent to parents, who have told the school they wish to enroll their children.

If registration material has not been received by Wednesday, February 15, parents should communicate with the superintendent.

To enter kindergarten this fall, a child must be five years old on or before November 30, 1961. At the time of registration, a birth certificate must be shown, as well as medical records indicating immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. At least three polio innoculations are required. The physical examination necessary for entrance may be conducted by the family physician or Dr. P.C. Tan, the school medical examiner.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE

In Nursery School. Applications will be accepted for the 1961-62 term until Friday, March 3, by the Princeton Cooperative Nursery School. Three and four-year-olds are eligible.

Located at 111 Prospect Avenue, the school is operated by the parents, who work with a professional nursery school teacher and a music teacher. Further information and application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. G. W. Gillette, WA 4-2330.

EXAMS SCHEDULED

For Hun Admission. Entrance examinations for admission to grades nine through twelve at The Hun School will be given Saturday, February 18, from 1:30 to 4 in the administration building at the school. Registration will be at 1. There is an examination fee of $10.

Additional information may be obtained from Lucien A. Bergeron, Jr., director of admissions, The Hun School, Edgerstoune. Scholarship examinations will be given at the school on March 18.

Hospital Friends Misinformed.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

As a former Trustee, and as one who has spent many years helping develop the fine modern hospital we have today, I am deeply disturbed by such adverse publicity as that which appeared in your latest issue. This is undermining the confidence of the community in its hospital and is basically wrong.

The trouble seems to have started over a year ago when a small group of women known as the Childbirth Education League demanded of the hospital certain changes in maternity practices and proceeded to campaign vigorously in an effort to force compliance with their wishes. Involved was a matter of policy which is determined by the Medical Staff and not by the Board of Trustees. It was the Trustees, however, who bore the brunt of this attack. There was little if any support from the Medical Staff.

A step in their campaign was the proposal of a slate of candidates for Trustees at the 1960 annual meeting. In spite of their efforts, and fortunately for the hospital, their candidates were all defeated.

According to the article, a small group from the League was responsible for a new 50-member "Friends of Princeton Hospital Committee." In my opinion this group, whether they realize it or not, is misleading the community as to the true facts about a number of the issues which they have raised.

Last December the "Friends" ran an advertisement in the local papers urging the community to join the Hospital Corporation. There were some 20 names of "Friends" in that advertisement. Would it not have been more accurate to say "New Friends", because of the entire group, only five had ever been a member of the Hospital Corporation prior to November 1960.

In the story, Mr. Thomas P. Cook, Mr. Robert Van Velde and the Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr. are quoted. All three of these men have lived in Princeton for many years. It would be interesting if they would tell the community how long they have been interested in the hospital and what they have done in the past to help make it a better hospital.

If Mr. McAlpin was quoted correctly, he is guilty of a mis-statement when he says that the Board of Trustees did nothing regarding the suggestion made at the 1960 annual meeting as to increasing the membership of the Corporation. After the meeting, the Board appointed a Committee of five which consisted of two Trustees and three non-trustees.

As one of the non-trustees and Chairman, I shall give the report of the Committee to the Corporation at its meeting on February 27. The Committee has reviewed the question of membership in the Corporation and the matter of the rotation of Trustees. It is to be regretted that the Rev. Mr. McAlpin did not check on the facts before he made a statement for publication.

It is further stated in the article that six or eight physicians have attended meetings of the "Friends." It would be interesting to know who these doctors are and exactly what their position is in this matter.

I have talked with a number of doctors. They are obviously badly confused as to the proper relationship between the Medical Staff and the Board of Trustees.

They are apparently unaware or refuse to accept the fact that the Trustees are legally responsible for all phases of the operation of the hospital. The doctors referred to apparently "want more opportunity to express their professional opinions."

This is puzzling because they have ample opportunity to do so either through the Chief of the Medical Staff who attends the meetings of the Board of Trustees or through their six representatives on the Joint Conference Committee. If their opinions, therefore, are not properly expressed, this is cer-

IT'S NOT EASY to practice economy, says Samuel Bahadurian, but he feels that should be done in preference to resorting to additional [illegible] to raise 39 million dollars needed to balance the state budget. For opinions on how others think this sum should be raised, see below. (Staff Photo).

Question of the Week

Question: To balance the record $467 million state budget, as required by law, Governor Meyner is proposing to raise $39 million primarily through a 2 per cent tax on gas, electricity, telephone and telegraph bills, a 20 percent increase in passenger car registration fees and a 1 percent tax on real estate sales. Do you prefer this to a state sales or state income tax?

Where asked: Around town.

Robert Montgomery, 14 Dickinson Street, Presbyterian chaplain at Princeton University: I'd prefer a state sales tax probably because the bite would be apparently less painful.

Mrs. Karl D. Pettit Jr., 104 Bayard Lane, housewife: I think maybe Governor Meyner better do a little cutting back on his budget as we do at home. I think there is an awful lot of padding there, too.

El Sayed El Daly, 9 Witherspoon Street, office of Population Research, Princeton University: I think any tax should not touch the interest of the common people; I mean the essential commodities and services such as gas, electricity and telephone. Even on a direct tax as a sales tax, the burden would be felt more by the poor. Any new tax must be aimed at luxury items. The people who buy such items can afford to pay more. From the economic welfare point of view, you shouldn't overload the poor. The burden must be proportionate to the capacity to endure.

Mrs. Cary T. Peebles, 5 Greenview Avenue, research assistant: I think the most equitable tax would be a state income tax. I think a sales tax always works hardships on the poor.

Hamilton Cottier, 4 Orchard Circle, teacher: Yes, I prefer Governor Meyner's program because I'd rather avoid an income or sales tax.

Mrs. Kenneth Cranwell, 43 Park Place, housewife: I don't prefer any of them but if I must make a choice I would prefer a state sales tax. I think the taxes we are paying here in Princeton are exorbitant enough on everything.

Samuel Bahadurian, State Road owner of E. Bahadurian & Son: I would not be in favor of a state sales tax or state income tax. As far as a sales tax is concerned, the burden of collection would be put on the businessman. It would mean more bookkeeping expenses for him as he would be nothing more than a tax collector. I think an income tax is a bad word. As long as it is going to have to come from the general public, I suppose they could tax the things that are already taxed. So I would just as soon see the Governor's proposals go through. The big thing is to practice economy and that's not easy. I do it at home, I do it in my business and I hope Governor Meyner is doing it in the state government.

Mrs. George O'Brien, 47 Spring Street, housewife: I prefer a state income tax. I believe it is a much more just tax and it would produce a lot more revenue. I think Governor Meyner's taxes are just stop-gap measures. They won't solve the problem.

Selwyn Geller, 407-C Devereux Avenue, politics department, Princeton University: I would prefer a state income tax.

Mrs. John Bell Jr., 15 Hillside Road housewife: I would prefer the Governor's taxes to a state sales or income tax. If he's got to have the money, let's get it, but I just don't go for a sales tax or an income tax at all. The taxes he proposes catches just about everybody anyway.

Albert Bieher, Alexander Hall, seminary student: I think if you have a sales tax like Pennsylvania, you'd be paying out more than you would if Governor Meyner's taxes were adopted. I'd just as soon go along with the program he's outlined.

Mrs. William G. Moulton, 182 Western Way, housewife: I think it's perfectly all right to raise the taxes on telephones, gas and car registrations. I feel people get these things at a bargain. People who are poor would not have a telephone or a car and would escape, whereas with a sales tax they would not because they still have to buy food and clothing. My main objection to a sales tax is that it causes too much fooling around with pennies.

R. E. Matthews, 17 Hendrickson Avenue, Lawrenceville, IBM employee: I'd prefer a state sales tax because I don't think you'd notice it as much. A few pennies here and there, you don't miss; but when they hit you all at once, it's different.

NEW Medalist LINE

Right now many stations are broadcasting glorious music stereophonically, using separate FM and AM channels. Don't miss this new dimension in listening pleasure. EICO's new ST96 has two superb and entirely separate tuners, one for FM, one for AM, mounted on the same chassis:

- Play them together for FM/AM stereo reception
- Play them separately for FM mono or AM mono reception for both at the same time! Move one speaker into another room, and listen to your favorite programs on FM while other members of the family hear theirs on AM!
- Plug in FM-Multiplex* adapter for the ultimate in FM stereo broadcasting

Both tuners are capable of providing perfect, distortion-free, drift-free reception; both feature EICO's exclusive, precision, prewired eye-tronic® traveling tuning indicators which contract into exclamation points at the exact center of each broadcast channel!... And the entire set is easy to build from kit because all the most critical and difficult sections—the AM and FM RF and IF stages, the FM "front end," and the eye-tronic tuning assembly—have been prewired and prealigned at the factory, reducing wiring to a minimum and assuring perfect performance.

*A new kind of stereo broadcasting which will be available in a short time.

tainly no fault of the Trustees but rather their own.

Last November the Trustees announced to the community that Dr. Anthony J. J. Rourke, one of the most outstanding authorities in the country on hospitals, had been retained to make a study of Princeton Hospital, including relationships and responsibilities of the Trustees and the Medical Staff. I have every confidence that if Dr. Rourke finds the Trustees at fault in any area of the hospital operation, they will immediately correct such mistakes as they have made.

Although I have not been a Trustee since 1955, I know as a result of my 20 years of service on the Board what a Trustee does for the community. They give hours and hours of their time. They are human and can make mistakes.

However, there is no question that they are not interested in personalities and that their only purpose is to provide the community with the very best hospital and medical care possible. Instead of being castigated by a group which I feel is very badly misinformed, I firmly believe they should, and I urge it strongly, have the support of the community in their efforts.

CANDIDATES GIVE VIEWS

On School Question. In connection with the Borough and Township School Board elections, to be held next Tuesday, the League of Women Voters has asked each Board candidate, "How can we provide a challenging education for all children and still keep it within the financial means of the community?"

The four Borough candidates' replies:

William K. Evans, 87 Jefferson Road: "Continue the critical evaluations of the curriculum. Broadly, this covers not only subject matter, but also personnel, the abilities and needs of the young people and the dollar cost to taxpayers. To be accomplished, the evaluations must draw on skills of the entire community—teachers, parents and non-parents alike."

Mr. Evans, controller with The Tabulating Card Company, Princeton, has lived in the community for 10 years. He has one child, a student at Princeton High School. Mr. Evans has been Youth Council Advisor, First Presbyterian Church; treasurer of the Borough Elementary Schools PTA; and director and treasurer of the Prospect Cooperative Nursery School, Trenton.

Mrs. Bernice Miller (Mrs. William) ,116 Wilson Road: "Search for and use able teachers most effectively; adapt program to the needs and abilities of our youth; update the curriculum and draw upon the special resources of the community; support administrators who stress quality education and also the importance of holding down the tax rate."

Mrs. Miller, housewife, has been a resident of Princeton for 22 years and a member of the Board of Education since September 1950. She is a former president of the League of Women Voters and a former vice-president of the Borough PTA. She also served as vice-president of the Princeton Chapter of Dehorah Hospital.

Graham Rohrer, 45 Princeton Avenue: "We can continue to do this by effecting maximum utilization of our buildings and equipment, and of the unique educational resources of the Princeton Community, and by making certain that our teaching staff is selected and equipped to provide challenge and inspiration so that each student achieves his maximum potential."

Mr. Rohrer, an advertising and marketing executive, has been president of the Board of Education for three years and a member for four and one half years. A deacon of the First Presbyterian Church, he has been a Princeton resident for 16 years. Three of his four children attend the Princeton public schools and one attends Franklin College.

Elvin E. Smith, 156 Moore Street: "We first must recognize that democracy is based on the infinite worth of each individual. Our educational program must be subject to constant surveillance of its standards, goals and purposes and an evaluation of what it is providing, to insure it is adequately meeting the needs of the individual."

Mr. Smith, general sales manager for Climax Molybdenum, has lived in Princeton for eight years, and has three children enrolled in the Princeton public schools. He has been active in PTA, Boy Scouts, YMCA, Community Chest and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Township candidates for the Board of Education, have replied with three replies to the League's question:

Mrs. Jean M. McAndrew (Mrs. John F.), 235 Edgerstoune Road: "I think we have made a good beginning with the establishment of classes for the edueihle and the program for gifted children. I believe in homogeneous grouping for academic subjects. It seems to me that consolidation with the Borough school system would provide great educational facilities at a lower cost."

Mrs. McAndrew, housewife, has been a resident of Princeton for 11 years. Her five children attend Wells College, the Shipley School and the Princeton public schools. She has been a member of the Ground Observer Corps and has been active with the Vassar Club of Central New Jersey, the P.T.A., Red Cross, Girl Scouts, and Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Mabel Rugg (Mrs. W Donald), 92 Overbrook Drive: "Citizens of Princeton Township have demonstrated repeatedly that they are willing to pay necessary taxes to build and maintain a public school system of high quality but we need to find new sources of ratables, revenues and savings to lighten the burden on the local homeowner.

Mrs. Rugg, housewife, has lived in Princeton 20 years. She has been a member of the staff of the Office of Public Opinion Research at Princeton and has worked for Educational Testing Service. Her two children are graduates of the Princeton public schools. She was chairman of the Citizens' Committee for New School Buildings (Riverside

Report from THE MAYOR

Special Session. At Monday night's agenda meeting of Mayor and Council, it was voted to hold a special session to introduce the 1961 Borough budget, provide for its publication, and to fix the date for a public hearing on it. Prior to the formal introduction of the municipal budget, the Mayor reviewed each item with the Council.

The heavy snow of the past weekend meant a last-minute change — an increase of $2,000 for rental of equipment to remove the heavy accumulation from main arteries in the business district. The $2,000 (already spent) was another sad reminder of one of our heaviest winters.

Public Hearing. The public hearing on the budget will be held at Borough Hall on Monday, March 6, at 8 p.m. prior to the regular agenda session. Despite the arduous efforts of the Finance Committee to pare the requests of the various departments, the 1961 budget is up.

Municipal purposes will total $980,779 — an increase of $29,000 over last year. In addition, the sum of $80,000 must be appropriated as a reserve for uncollected taxes, a $25,000 increase caused in large part by the refund last year of taxes based on successful tax appeals.

Altogether, it appears that the local-purpose tax rate will rise by ten points. Much of the increase is geared to higher salaries and related pension and social security contributions. Other increases include some major equipment items, including trucks, cars and a front-end loader.

At the public hearing, the Mayor will present a detailed analysis of each of the increases. The cost of these essential municipal services, on a per capita basis, remains a real bargain in today's cost of living.

Job Well Done. All the municipal employees who shared the extra burdens of last weekend's snow deserve a special word of thanks from a grateful town. Snow removal, police and fire protection demanded very special effort. Princeton can be proud of its staff and volunteers.

Title 40. The Mayor has been serving on a committee involved with a portion of a major project — the revision of Title 40, the cumbersome New Jersey statutes affecting municipalities.

Meeting again last week, the committee continued its review of municipal powers, helping to hack away at the maze of conflicting, confusing statutes and trying to clarify the powers of municipal governing bodies. It is hoped that the revision, when adopted by the Legislature, will provide a clear, concise outline of municipal powers, operating within the 1947 constitutional framework of liberalized home rule.

"Tell It To The Mayor!" The regular weekly open house sessions will be held on Friday, February 10, and Friday, February 17, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Last week's session will be a memorable one for the Mayor because one of the visitors was a brilliant and attractive young teenager from Korea. This young lady, Eun Sook Lee, is visiting Princeton as part of the Herald Tribune group of youngsters from around the world, getting to know America better.

Eun Sook wanted to talk about local government. Her command of our language, her boundless enthusiasm and interest, her mature concern for a host of problems left this Mayor more than a little impressed.

Miss Lila Bates of College Road must have been greatly honored to have this exciting guest. Princeton, too, is honored by her visit.

and Johnson Park) and is now a member of the Mercer County Committee for State School Support. She has been Township representative on the Princeton High School Lay Council.

Mrs. Dorothy Schoch (Mrs. Richard), 159 Valley Road: "Providing a challenging education is the function of the teaching and administrative staffs. They need adequate salaries and facilities to attract and keep them in Princeton. Controlling the cost of education reflects the success of the Township Committee in broadening our tax base."

Mrs. Schoch, housewife, was formerly Republican County Committeewoman for District Four. She has been secretary of the Citizens' Advisory Committee for Community Park Schools and welfare committee chairman of the Council of Community Services. She is also a trustee of the Princeton United Community Fund and a member of the executive board of the Valley Road PTA. She has a pre-school child and two children at Valley Road School. She has been a resident of Princeton for six years.

A. Robert Trudel, 549 State Road: "Designing a challenging educational program at reasonable cost is a job for skillful professional educators who understand thoroughly both the educational processes and the price tags associated with them. To challenge pupils having different learning rates, the group instruction method is being used with increasing success in the Township schools."

Mr. Trudel, general manager of the accelerator project, Princeton University, has two children attending Princeton public schools. He has been on the Board of Education for three years and was for two years on the Board of Education of the American School of Brussels.

SCHOOLS SEEK $170,000

In West Windsor. Voter approval of a school budget of $479,000 for the year 1961-62 will be sought by the West Windsor Board of Education at the annual school board election, to be held Tuesday, February 14, from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Dutch Neck Town Hall and the Penns Neck Community Club. Three members of the Board of Education will be chosen in the election.

Total budget for West Windsor schools is $581,585.92. Of this, $88,810 will be paid for through State Aid and $15,745.92 by application of the balances, leaving $479,000 to be raised locally. The increase in the budget is accounted for almost entirely by three items: Tuition to Princeton High School, $26,230; teachers' salaries, $14,177, and transportation, $5,800.

Four candidates, including two incumbents, are running for the three vacancies on the West Windsor Board of Education. They are: Jesse Coleman, Jr., Mill Road, Dutch Neck, farmer, an incumbent; W. Bradford Craig, Clarksville

GREENE WORKS SHOWN

At Little Gallery. A retrospective group of paintings, drawings and collages by George S. Greene of New Hope will be displayed at The Little Gallery, 39 Palmer Square, from this Saturday through March 4.

A graduate of Harvard with the class of 1931, Mr. Greene has been a student of semantics, a newspaper reporter and a teacher. He taught art for 18 years at The Lawrenceville School but has devoted himself exclusively to painting for the past 12 years. He has exhibited in New York, Albany, Palm Beach, Yale and Andover.

The current show features his most recent oil paintings. Non-figurative in style, they are executed with colors of lyric quality. Two large collages explore light and dark in tight constructions of the space. The drawings are exploratory studies, primarily abstract. The Gallery has included in the show a group of illustrations on the subject of mice which treat the subject in an amusing and carefree manner.

NEW SHOW AT RIMA

Sculpture, Paintings Shown. The abstract paintings and romantic sculpture of Jack Prezant are now being shown at Rima Galleries, 11 Charlton. An abstract artist who paints with great spontaneity, Mr. Prezant believes that the intuitive in art cannot be discounted. In his paintings, he combines a strong sense of color and a simple stroke to achieve dynamic relationships on the canvas, and he feels that the artist can find in nature a never-ending source of visual expression.

Fundamentally romantic, his sculpture emphasizes the sensual aspects of the body and he works with a pink alabaster which has a warm flesh tone. In his sculptured works, he discards the concept of "front" and "back" and forms the figure to the grain of the wood or the natural configurations of the stone. His sculptures must be viewed from all sides to absorb the full effect of rounded flowing lines.

In his Rinn Galleries show, he exhibits "Winter Forest," a study of balance in variations of white, blue and red; "Fertility," a white alabaster woman and "Eve," a figure in pink alabaster.

ONE-MAN SHOW PLANNED

At Gallery 100. Stefan Martin is exhibiting drawings, paintings and wood engravings in his first one-man show. His works will be on view at Gallery 100 through February 25. The Gallery is located at 100 Nassau Street.

The 25-year-old artist, a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, won first prize in the Metropolitan Young Artists Show in New York with his painting "Figurature II." His group shows include the Washington Print Makers Show in the Library of Congress, the Boston Printmakers Show, Associated American Artists Print Show in New York, Honolulu Printmakers Show and the Original Graphics Print show in Philadelphia.

Last month, a Martin woodcut, "Reprise", was bought by the Free Library of Philadelphia and is now on display at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

BUDGET UP $899,000

For Lawrence Schools. Voters in Lawrence Township will be asked to approve a school budget of $1,661,547 for the school year 1961-62 at the school election next Tuesday. The new budget, which is $320,843 higher than this year's budget, is expected to raise the Lawrence school tax rate by about 40 cents.

Lawrence voters will also be asked to choose three members of the Board of Education from among eight candidates. Only one of the candidates, Harry Kihn, is an incumbent.

The eight candidates, listed in the order in which they will appear on Tuesday's ballot, are: C. Dickey Dyer, 3rd, Carter Road, executive vice president, George D. Wilkinson Co. and Applied Management Services, Princeton; William N. Englert, 33 Lumar Road, design engineer, Brown Bovert Corp., North Brunswick; Thomas D. Tilton, 21 Monroe Avenue, senior engineer, Astro-Electronics Division, RCA Laboratories, Princeton.

Also, Edward J. Daunis, 1712 Lawrence Road, cost engineer, Industrial Engineering Department, Trenton Works, American Steel & Wire Division, U.S. Steel Corp.; Harry Kihn, 30 Green Avenue, electrical engineer, Electronic Systems Research, RCA Laboratories, Princeton, an incumbent and present vice president of the Lawrence Township Board of Education.

Also, Samuel L. Hack, 15 Merritt Drive, assistant manager, Princeton Area Office, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission; Donald L. Suppers, 127 Villanova Drive, chairman, Engineering Department, Trenton Junior College, and Henry P. Keller, 2480 Main Street, master, Science Department Lawrenceville School.

YALE SIX ON TAP

Saturday in Baker Rink. The "Rink Rats" who constitute the hockey faithful in these parts should see a solid share of action Saturday afternoon when Yale's skaters come here for a 2 o'clock game. Although the Blue has been pegged around the .500 mark, and has the same share of one-sided defeats from the east's top teams as does Princeton, the Elis will be slight favorites.

This rating is deserved on their ability to trim Dartmouth at Hanover, where Princeton on Saturday absorbed a 6-2 pasting. It was a rough morning for the Tigers during the Winter Carnival program, particularly after a long, hard trip by bus; late arrival and understandable lack of stamina as the game wore on.

The third period proved to be Princeton's undoing, as the Green broke away from a 2-2 tie with a four-goal splurge. As in the past, the Tigers were guilty of incurring penalties that aided the opposition materially in scoring.

Both Hugh Scott and Brit Mockridge were in the penalty box when the Indians got their first goal, and Mockridge was there while they made it 2-0. With its defense as weak as it is, this tendency to play a man or two short consistently is extremely expensive.

Mockridge came out of hock to get the first Princeton goal before the opening round ended, and Austie Sullivan brought the Orange and Black even 21 seconds before the second round ended. The Green's four-goal outburst followed in the final stanza to bury the Tigers after they had begun the league race with a pair of victories over Brown and one over Cornell. Sullivan, a Princeton resident, has been restored to academic eligibility following term-end exams. The Tigers' next game after the Yale encounter will be Wednesday, February 15, at 8 against the St. Nicholas Hockey Club.

QUINTET WILL TRAVEL

To Face Brown and Yale. After a 72-hour postponement, precipitated because the bus bringing Penn's basketball team to Princeton was a victim of poor navigation, the Tiger basketball team will head for New England this weekend. (For the result of Tuesday's belated encounter with the Quakers, see page 21.)

Brown Friday night and Yale Saturday will confront the touring Tigers. They hold easy triumphs over these two opponents registered last month in Dillon Gym, and should win again. Road trips, however, can pose a problem in the Ivy League, with the invasion of Providence the tougher of the two contests.

At 4 p.m. Saturday, Pennsylvania's junior varsity quintet played its Princeton counterpart in Dillon Gym as scheduled. The visitors had arrived as planned because they had come by train.

Shortly before 6, just before the Penn freshmen were to meet Princeton's Class of 1964, varsity coach Jack McCloskey telephoned Athletic Director Ken Fairman to report that the Quaker bus was stuck in a snowdrift eight miles this side of Hightstown.

An hour later, with the aid of State Police, the bus had dug itself out, headed back to Hightstown, Mercerville and then Clarksville. From a restaurant on US 1, McCloskey discussed the problem of an evening meal and a late start with Fairman and acting coach Jake McCandless.

Postponement was finally agreed upon—the first such Ivy League experience within Princeton memory. Why Penn's freshman and varsity squads came by bus, and via the Turnpike, when the trains were running virtually on schedule and several other bus routes were open, is an answer the Quakers' could not provide.

LITTLE TIGERS HUMBLED

By B.M.I. Quintet. What chance does a pea shooter have against a cannon? None at all, as the Little Tigers of Princeton High School discovered last Wednesday when the Cadets from Bordentown Military Institute invaded their court and blasted them, 85-29.

Coach Tony Borzok's team was forced to raise the white flag at the end of the first quarter. In those first eight minutes of play, the cadets zeroed in on the basket and bombarded it for 30 points, six times as many as their opponents were to score in the period and one point more than they were to tally in the entire contest. It was the loser's eighth straight loss and ninth in ten games.

No Blue and White player was able to hit double figures. Sophomore forward John Kowalski was high with seven points. For the victors, Dave Cline and Jerry Tubinis combined for 39 points.

After an eight-day respite, the Little Tigers will resume play Friday against Hunterdon and will oppose Lawrenceville School on Wednesday. The latter game will be played on the PHS court with the tap off set for 3:15.

BOWLING NOTES

Toto Wins First Half. The team of Bill and Betty Toto edged out the Roses and Sculeratis by one game to win the first half of the Mixed League in Princeton bowling action last week. Zeccola (28) finished fourth, 10 points behind the leaders. In other action, Nassau Del swept a three-game series to jump into the lead of the Industrial loop as it opened its second half. Tiger Garage and the Crescents were tied for second with four points each.

Yeoman's (16) held on to the top spot in the "A" league, while Nelson's Glass, K of C and Grover Lumber were all tied at 12 points each. In the Faculty loop, SMAWG maintained a two-game margin over C Operations and Machine Development, each with 64 points. The Friday night "B" League was snowed out.

Sweeping its opening series, Forsgate Country Club moved into first place as the second half of the Women's Industrial loop began. Nassau Service, Gale Cleaners, the Five Jills and Thorne's were all tied for the runner-up spot with six points each. In the Women's League, Applegate Floral Shop (30) led Craft Cleaners by one game, while Emens and McVaugh was in third place with 22 points.

Carol Harris paced the women bowlers with a 224 game in the Women's loop and a 558 series. Barbara Danser rolled 201, and Diana Fugill had a 919 in a 536 series in that same league. Other notable scores included Sara Rose, 191, and Marge Bloom, 181, in the Women's League; Loretta Fuschini, 212; Marilyn Lowe, 204; —Continued on Page 20

YMCA TEAM ADVANCES

In Industrial League. The YMCA quintet broke a tie for second place with Opinion Research Corporation in the YMCA Research and Industrial League by heating ORC, 52-40. The win left the Y team, now 3-1, just one game behind the unbeaten, league-leading RCA Labs. ORC dropping into a tie for third place with the 3 B's.

A pair of Bobs, Bob Kehoe and Bob Cramp, combined for 24 points to lead YMCA to its third victory in four games. Their effort offset a 20-point performance, high for the evening, by ORC's Ray Tommasse. Tommasse is the League's top scorer after four weeks of play.

In other games, in the six-team league, RCA Labs won its fourth straight to remain unbeaten by topping Food Machinery Corporation, 44-27. Joe Burns and Bill Ehnor had 24 points between them for RCA. Gerry Gibbs hit for 15 but got little help from his teammates as winless RCA Astro lost its fourth in a row to the 3 B's, 57-34. Bill Stryker had 16 and Ray Cevera 15 for the winners.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mary N. Duthie, 83, of 69 Patton Avenue, died February 2 at The Elms, Cranbury. A Princeton resident for 62 years, she was born in Dundee, Scotland.

The wife of Alexander Duthie, she is also survived by three daughters, Mrs. Charles Clowes of Lawrenceville, Mrs. David Hand of Cranbury and Mrs. Paul Sjostrom in Florida; a son, Alexander Duthie Jr. of Princeton; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Rev. H. Dana Fearon 3d of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church officiated at the service, held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Milford Hagenman Van Cleve, 71, a Princeton resident until 1916, died February 4 at his home in Pittsburgh. He had been an employee of the Princeton Theological Seminary and the Princeton Post Office. In Pittsburgh, he worked for the Carnegie and U.S. Steel Companies as an expediter until his retirement in 1955.

He was a member of Princeton Lodge No. 38, F&AM., the Shrine Temple in Pittsburgh, and the First Lutheran Church in Pittsburgh. He was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Carol Van Cleve; a sister, Miss P.E.A. Van Cleve; two brothers, Russell L. Van Cleve of Princeton and Carlton G. Van Cleve of Norwalk, Conn. The funeral was held in Pittsburgh.

Clifford P. Ely, 74, of Route 33, Hightstown, died February 6 at his home. A leading potato farmer in the area, he was born near Manalapan, and had lived at the above address for 72 years. He was a member of the Hightstown Baptist Church, Hightstown Lodge 41, F & AM, and Crescent Temple of Trenton.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Outcalt Ely, and a son, Richard O. Ely of Hightstown. The Rev. Terry L. Burch will officiate at the funeral, to be held this Thursday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Hettie C. Shinn, 86, of 15 Markham Road, died February 8 at her home. The widow of Wilbert L. Shinn, she was a retired school teacher, and had lived in Princeton for 40 years. She was born in Berks County, Pa. She was a member of the Second Presbyterian Church and the Princeton Reading Club.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Reik of Pennington and Mrs. Dorothy Sloat of Ayrestown; a son, Wilbert J. Shinn of Princeton; a sister, Mrs. Nellie Plummer, and a brother, Jack Cummings, both in Iowa; and four grandchildren. The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. Leslie Sloat officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Miss Laura Styer, 74, of Route 69, Pennington, died February 6 at her home. A native of Morgantown, Pa., she lived in Pennington for 10 years. She is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Cora Savidge, Mr. Kathryne Northeimer, Mrs. Mary Moore, Miss Anna L. Styer and Miss Grace Styer.

The funeral will be held this Thursday at 11 a.m. at 21 North Main Street, Pennington. The Rev. James W. Marshall of the Methodist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Coatesville, Pa.

TIGERS WHIP PENN

With Topflight Basketball. As fine a performance of basketball as Dillon Gymnasium has seen Tuesday night gave Princeton a virtually insurmountable lead in the Ivy League. Pennsylvania, a serious challenger to the Tigers' title, was the victim of a 77-55 defeat as the Orange and Black controlled the game from start to finish.

The quintet that Cappy Cappon created rolled out to a 25-23 half-time lead on the wings of a tremendous 61 percent shooting average. Defensively, it held the visitors in check with tight man-to-man guarding, achieved so expertly that in the first 30 minutes it was charged with only three personal fouls.

An early surge in the second half carried Princeton to a 50-38 margin after less than seven minutes had been played. The Quakers cut into this briefly, but never came closer than 14 points. Princeton accuracy from the foul line as the bonus rule took effect helped restore the 20-point margin.

Big Al Kaemmerlen, fed nicely through the Penn zone defense by sharp passing teammates, took scoring honors with 22 points. Pete Campbell, Ivy scoring leader as a sophomore, was close behind with 21, but Hyland with 18 and Captain Dave Swan with 10 gave the victors four players in double figures.

Hyland's all - around floor play, his frequent steals and constant ballhawking typified Princeton alertness. The Tigers' fine defense held Penn Captain Bob Mikvy to nine points, much of his trouble coming from Swan's tight guarding.

The triumph boosted Princeton's season record to 11-3. It may not go 14-0 in the Ivy League, but no one is going to beat a team with the balance this one has to the tule.

OLD COLONIALS WANTED!!!

During 1960 we averaged the sale of more than one old Colonial per month. We have sold three more old Colonials so far this year.

Our immediate problem is that we are running out of listings, and have prospects whose needs we cannot fill. The nearer Princeton the better, but we have sold them as far afield as Lambertville, Griggstown, Pennington, Hopewell, Hightstown, Skillman and Harlingen.

REAL ESTATE BUSINESS AS USUAL

a new name, a new home, but the same personnel

I am delighted to announce to our friends, clients, and co-brokers, the formation of John T. Henderson Associates, Real Estate Brokers, with offices conveniently located in the Bowers Building, 341 Nassau Street (corner of Harrison and Nassau.)

It is most gratifying to also announce the continuing association of Audrey Short, Catherine Johnson, and Bettie Starbuck with me.

Call WA 1-2776 anytime for competent and pleasant assistance, whether buying or selling.
